

Dear Margaret Shuman:

Congratulations! Your English Literature and Composition course is now authorized to use the AP designation for the 2017 - 2018 academic year at Georgia Home School.

What Does Syllabus Authorization Mean?

It is the official recognition by the College Board that your syllabus meets or exceeds the expectations colleges and universities have for your AP course. Your syllabus was reviewed by experienced college and university faculty, who have confirmed that it outlines how you provide a college-level learning experience for your students. This authorization grants you permission to use the AP designation on your students transcripts in association with the authorized course. This authorization to use the AP designation is specific to the course identified in this notification and does not constitute an endorsement, accreditation, or certification of the course provider.

Renewing Your Authorization

Once your course has been authorized, you do not need to resubmit your syllabus unless notified by the College Board that submission is required due to revisions to the AP course. Prior to the 2018 - 2019 school year, you will be sent instructions for extending your authorization status for 2018 - 2019.

We understand that you may need to modify your syllabus to reflect new discoveries and try new approaches. You do not need to resubmit your syllabus when you modify it, as long as you are not eliminating from your curriculum one or more of the curricular requirements on the AP Course Audit form.

Sincerely,

Trevor Packer
